Sliding gate operator BULL624SE

- manufacturer: Beninca
- maximum gate weight: 600 kg
- amperometric protection
- built-in 433.92 MHz radio receiver

The BULL624SE sliding gate operator is an actuator for intensive use with a built-in control unit and encoder. It also features a built-in switching power supply (85–265 V AC), which reduces energy consumption, limiting the estimated annual cost of keeping the operator in standby mode from €10–25 to €1–2.

It is a device that is easy to program, can work with smart home systems, and also performs well in independent operation, ensuring a high level of safety and reliability.

The BULL624SE sliding gate operator is offered in a set with the TRUST24 control unit, STAR.O flashing light, a pair of PUPILLA photocells, and two TO.GO2A remote controls.

Why recommend the BULL624SE sliding gate operator:

- it has a wiring system made of metal and protection against the access of small animals, which effectively protects the operator
- it can be programmed via PRO.UP, significantly facilitating and speeding up the installation and service process
- it meets the latest energy efficiency standards – it complies with the European Regulation (EU) 2023/826

Choose the BULL624SE sliding gate operator if your client:

- wants to integrate the gate into a smart home system, which is facilitated by the presence of a KNX input
- values the precision and safety of gate operation, guaranteed by the built-in encoder

- expects protection in the event of a power failure, provided by the built-in battery charging card

Get to know the BULL624SE sliding gate operator better:

- manufacturer: Beninca
- built-in control unit and encoder
- built-in switching power supply (85–265 V AC)
- vertically positioned display
- amperometric obstacle sensor
- built-in battery charging card (2x DA.BT2)
- serial input for integration with KNX systems
- serial input for programming with the PRO.UP module (programmer and Wi-Fi module in one)
- wiring made of metal
- built-in 433.92 Hz radio receiver

FENCES ACCESSORIES BENINCA